

PATTERN MEANINGS

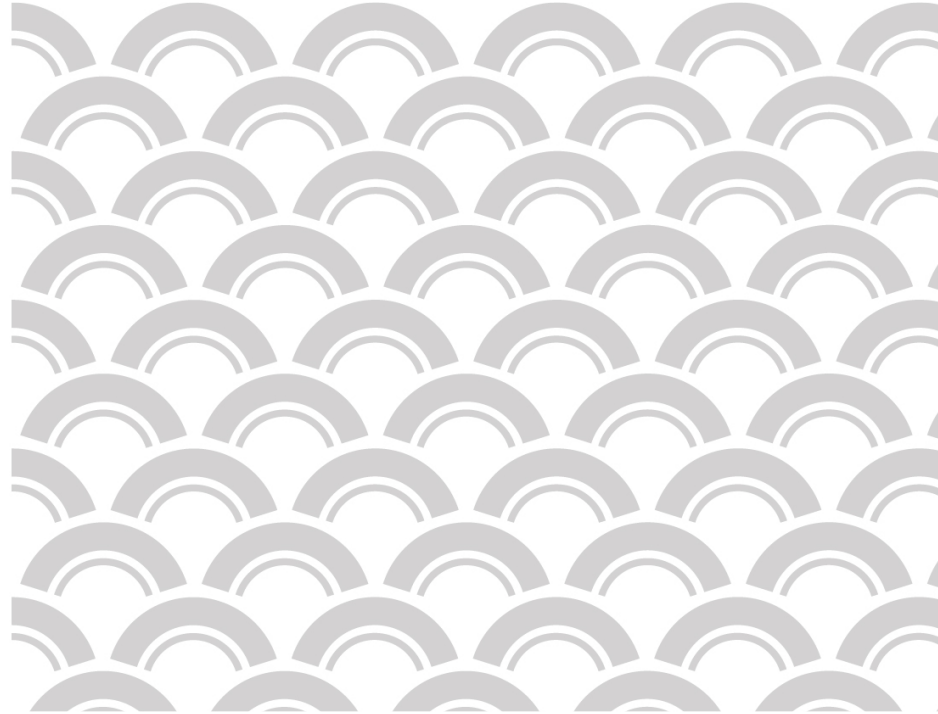

PATTERN EVOLUTION

Seigaiha (Waves) - It is considered a symbol of peace, good luck, and good fortune.

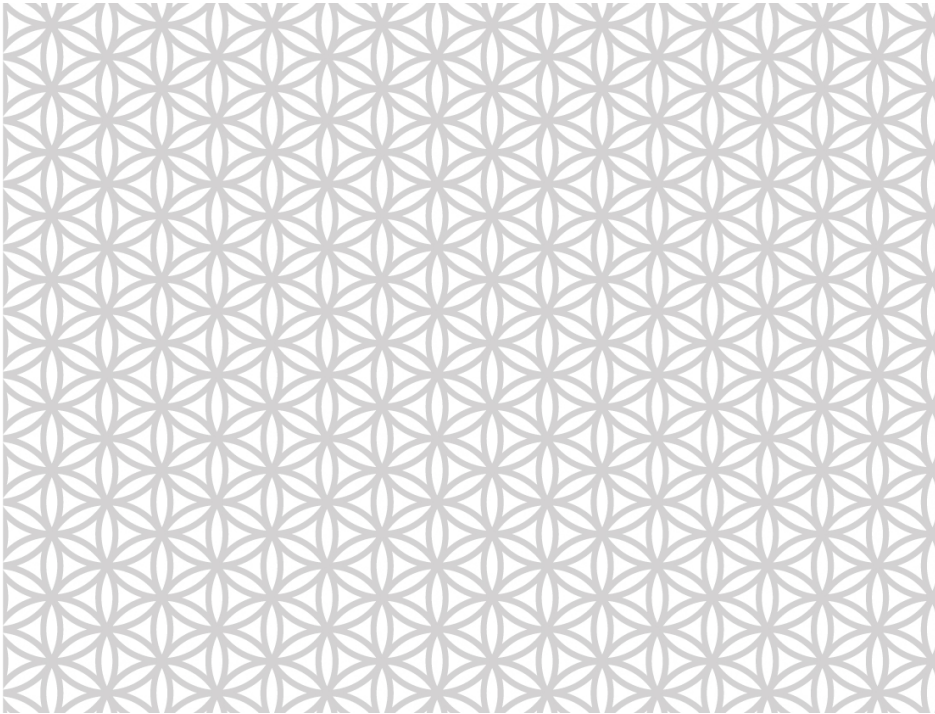

Original

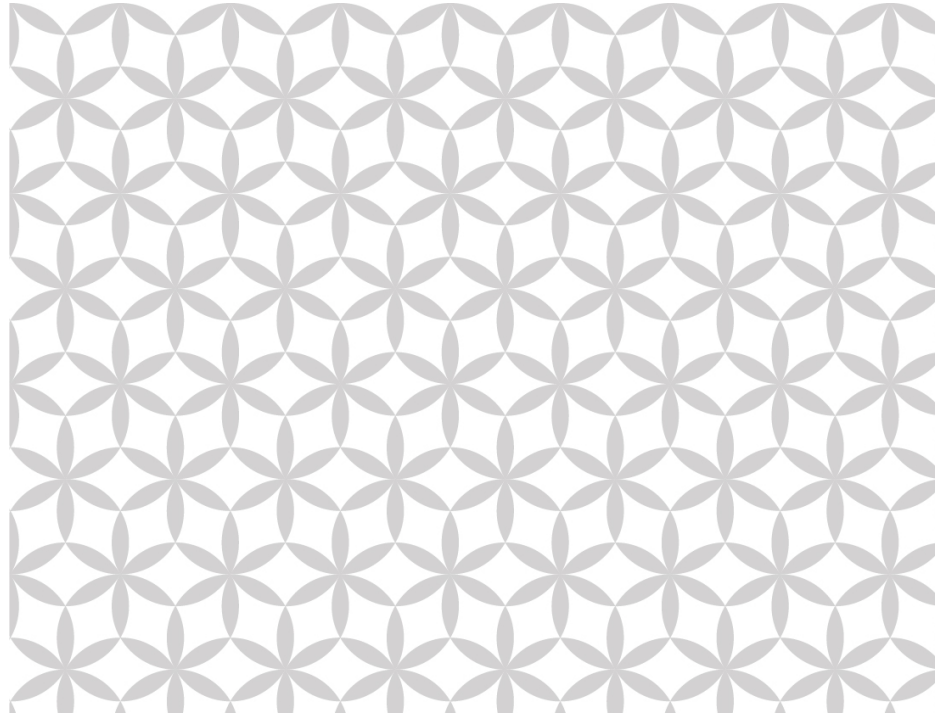

New

PATTERN EVOLUTION

Asanoha (Hemp Leaf) – Often used on babies' and children's kimonos, this pattern represents growth and good health

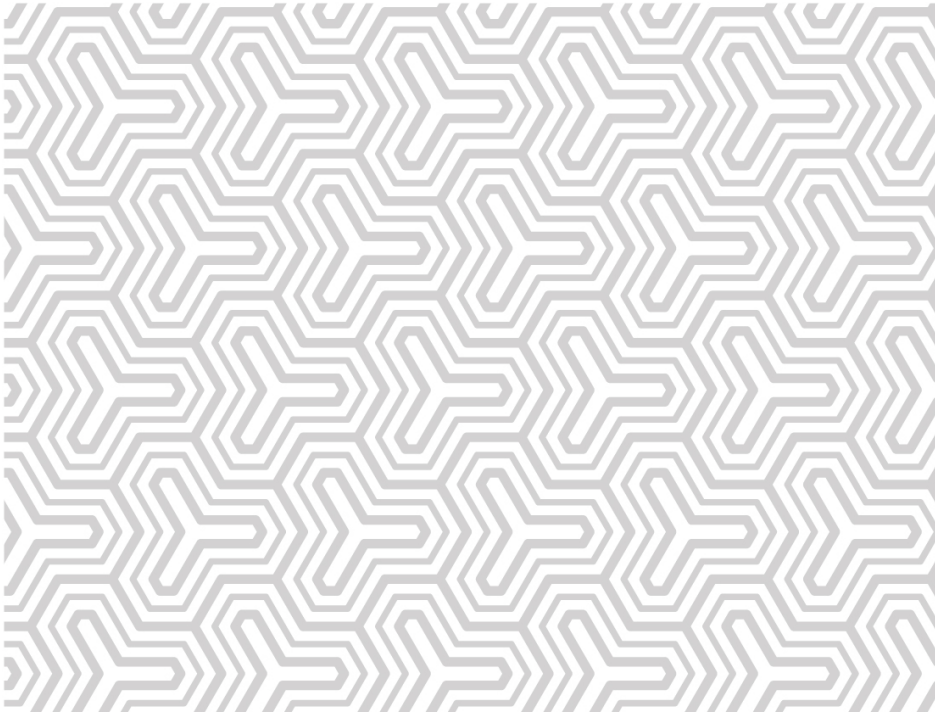

Original

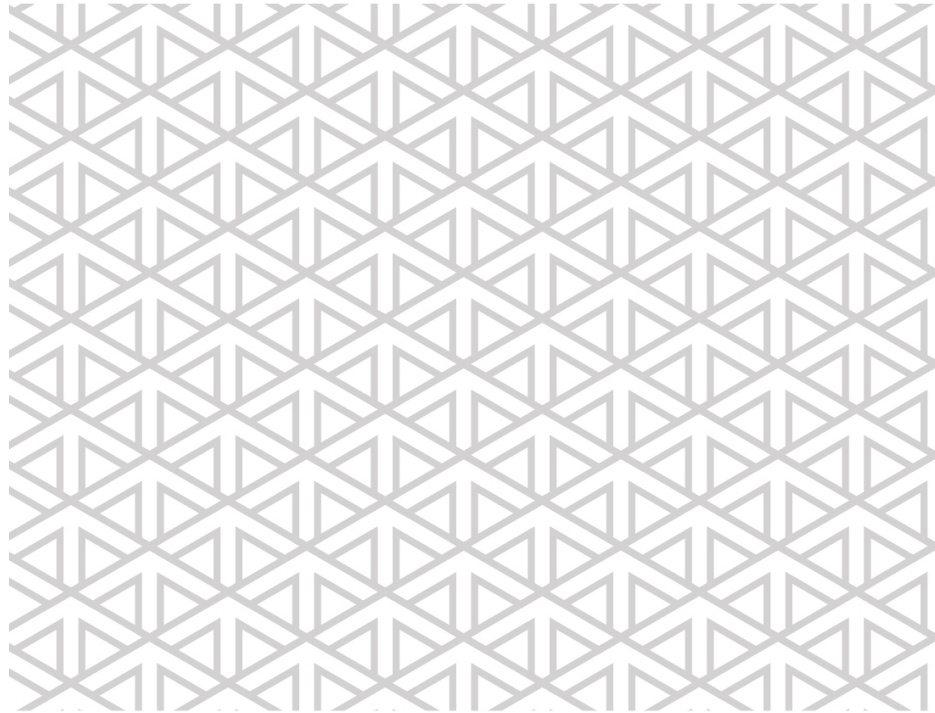

New

PATTERN EVOLUTION

Kikkō (Tortoise shell) – Derived from the shape of the tortoise shell which represents longevity, the Bishamon Kikko pattern below is one of the Kikko patterns which comes from the armor of Bishamonten, and represents fortune, wealth, and victory.

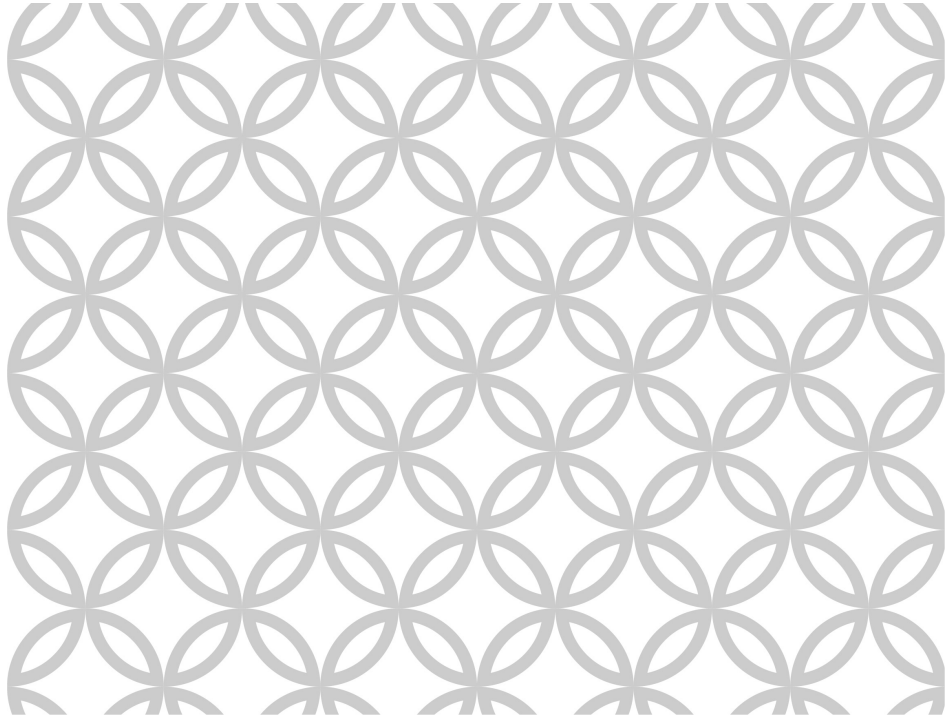

Original

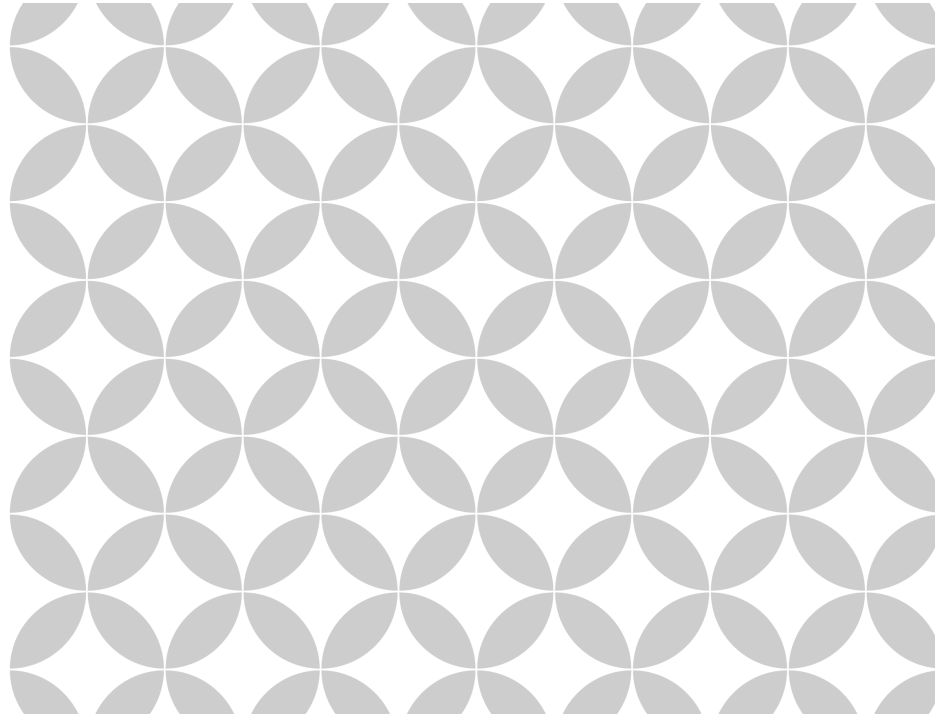

New

PATTERN EVOLUTION

Shippō (Seven Treasures) – This pattern represents harmony, peace, and the prosperity of descendants.

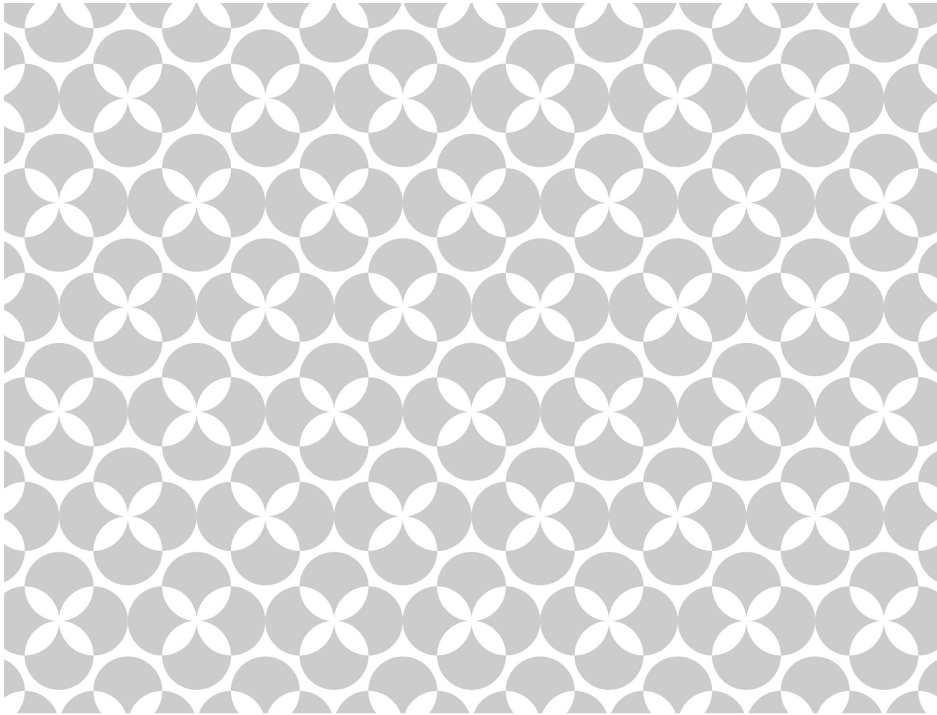

Original

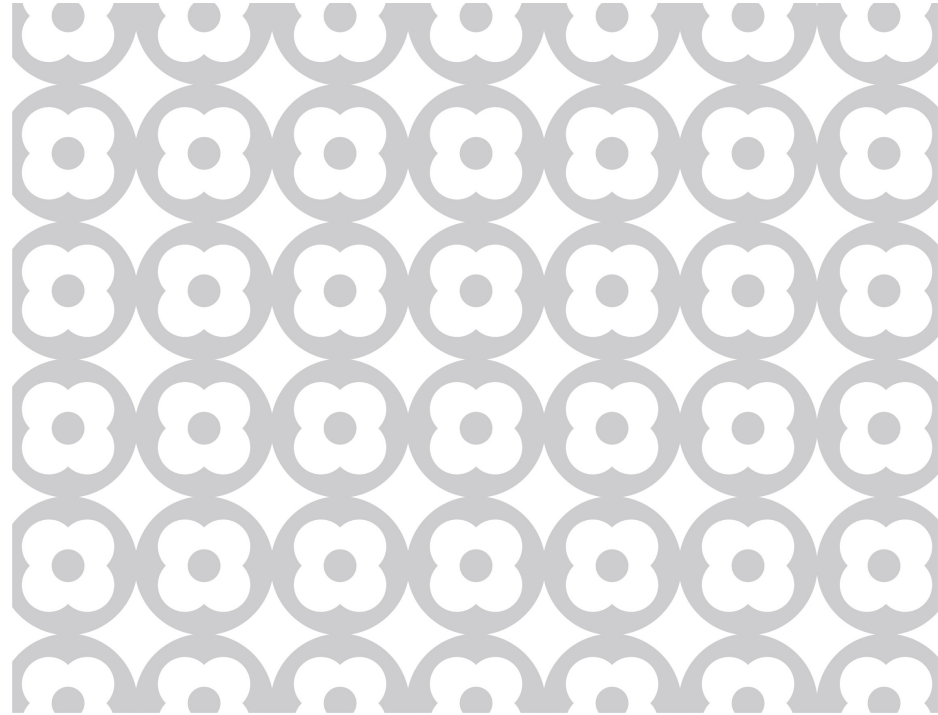

New

PATTERN EVOLUTION

Shippō (Seven Treasures) – This pattern represents harmony, peace, and the prosperity of descendants.

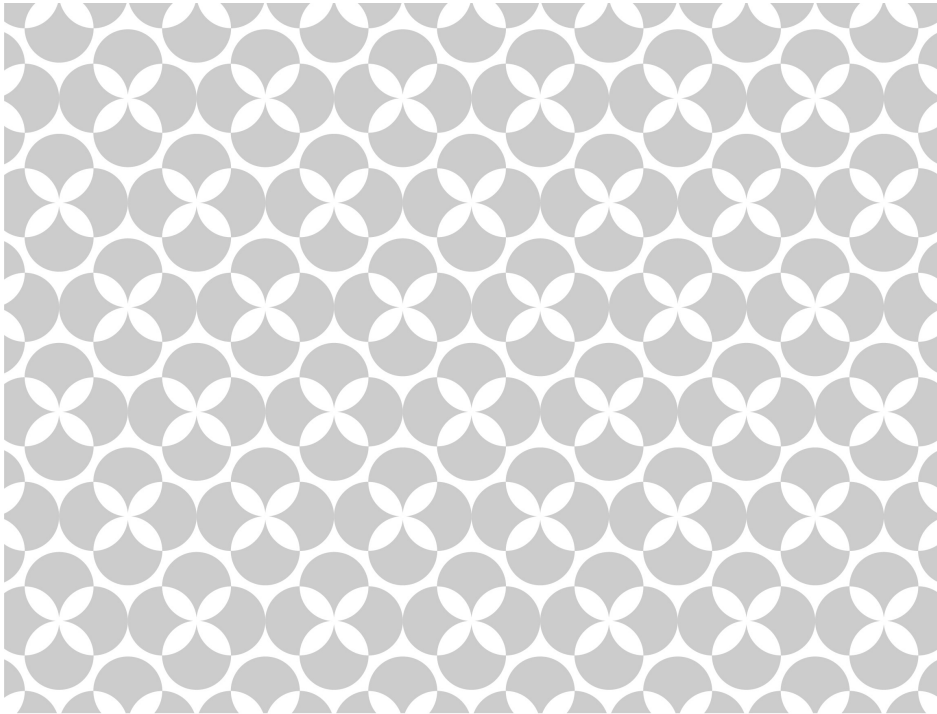

Original

New

PATTERN EVOLUTION

Shippō (Seven Treasures) – This pattern represents harmony, peace, and the prosperity of descendants.

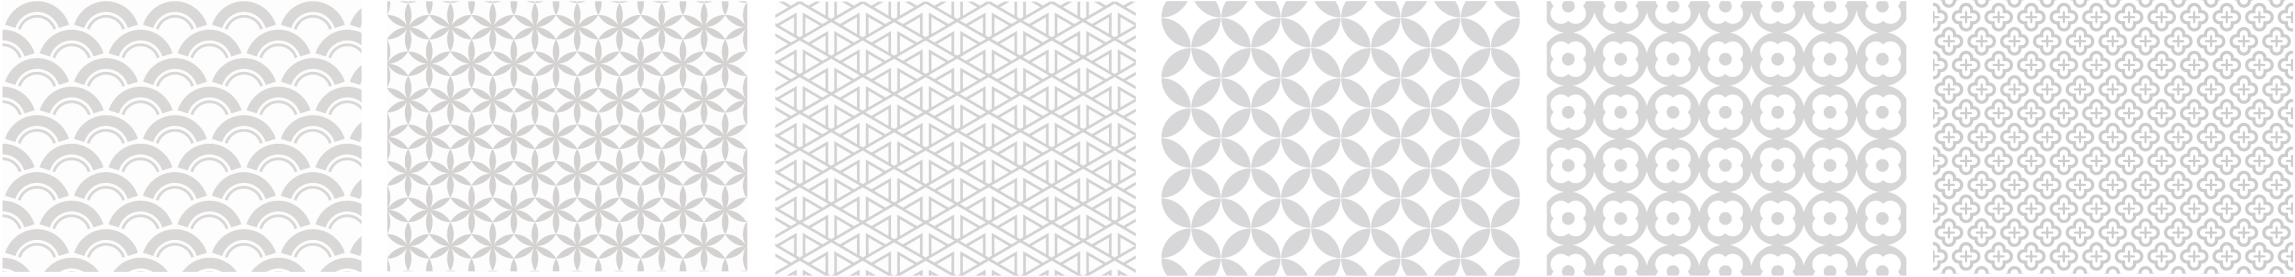

Original

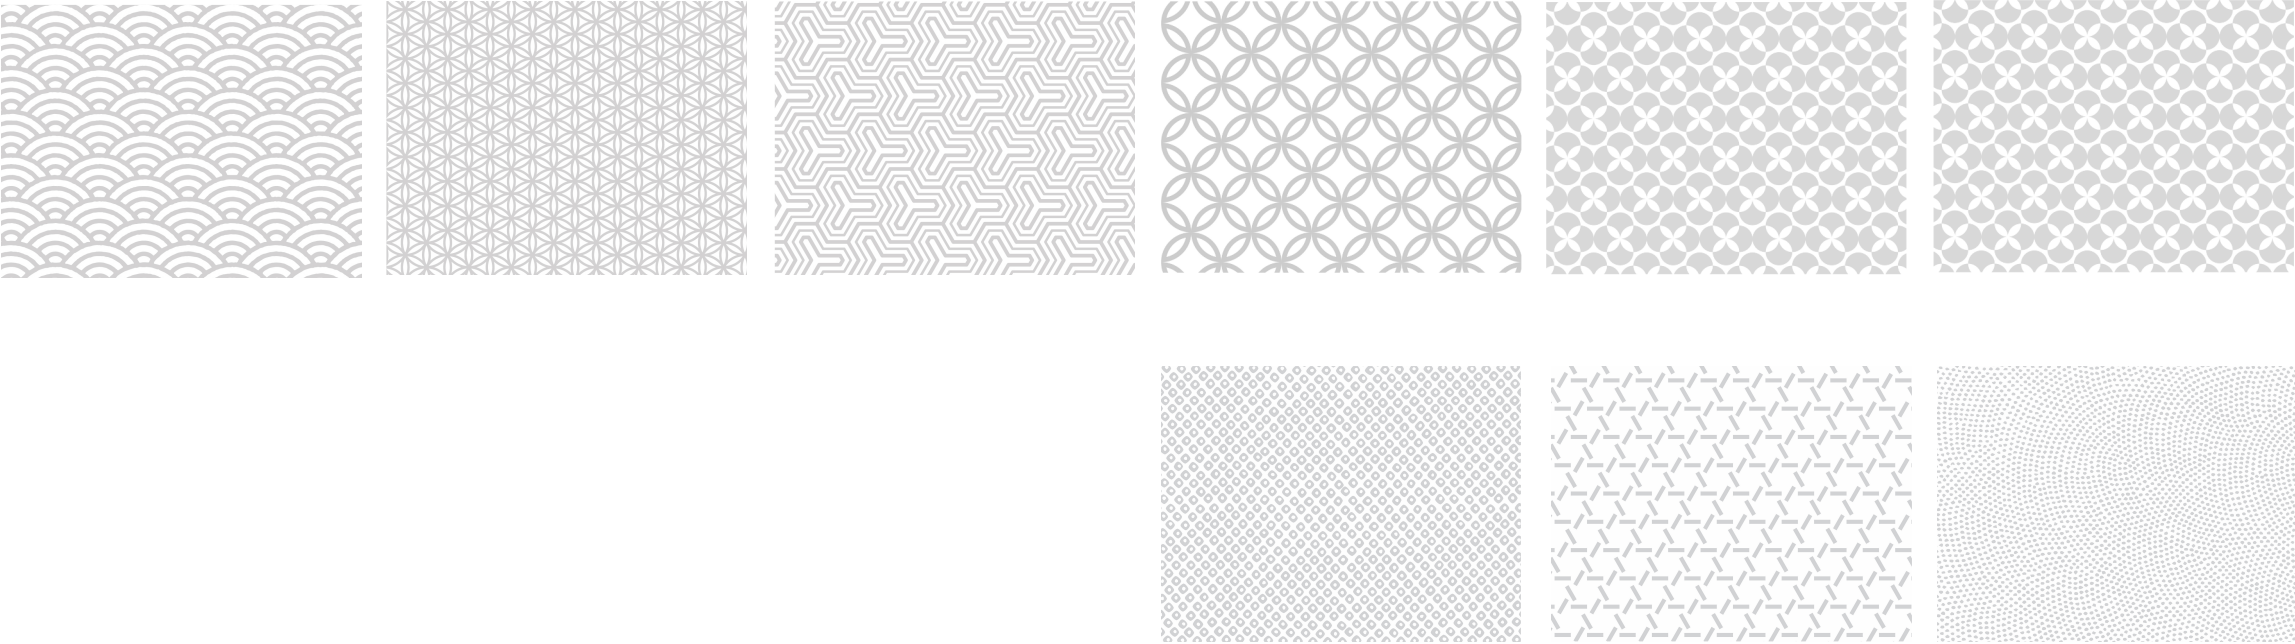

New

ALL PATTERNS

New

Original

FINAL SELECTED PATTERNS

